President Hayes is stalwart in one thing—he won't pardon thieves. A remarkable effort has been made to induce him to pardon Gregg and Golsen, the Chicago post office embezzlers—but he has concluded to let justice take its course.

The Democratic leaders do not like the Maine scheme inaugurated by Garcelon and Pillsbury. It is placing the country beyond the control of the Democrats, in consideration of a United States Senatorship and the Governorship of Maine. They think the odds are too much in favor of the Republicans.

One of the oldest pioneers of Northern Wisconsin—Asaph Whittlesey—died at Dayfield last week. There are very few men now living in this State, who endured more hardships incident to pioneer-life than Mr. Whittlesey. In 1859 he was elected to the Legislature, and early in January following, he traveled all winter from Lake Superior to Madison on snowshoes.

The Hon. George H. Paul, Senator from the Sixth District of Milwaukee, will have his seat contested by Mr. D. J.
Price. Paul was elected by a very small majority in a strong Democratic ward, and Price claimed that the students at St.
Francis Seminary were not entitled to vote.
An investigation was instituted a few days ago, and it has been ascertained that the students who belonged to the Seminary and who voted for Mr. Paul, were legally entitled to vote. As this was the chief point in controversy, the contest is virtually ended.

Some kindly spirit like that of John Howard, should rise up in this generation and go about investigating our prisons. It is feared they would be found in a terribly bad condition. This remark will hardly apply to State penitentiaries, for, as a general rule, they will be found to be very creditably managed. But there are jails and prisons, no doubt, which disgrace the age in which we live. One would hardly have supposed that in Wisconsin, in the City of Milwaukee, there could possibly have existed so disgraceful a condition of things as has been brought to light by the recent investigation of the House of Correction.
It almost surpasses belief. There is a prison in Georgia where 1500 convicts are kept. They are dirty, ill-treated, the gangs work and sleep in shackles, and when they escape are hunted with bloodhounds. The number of deaths is remarkably large, which shows that prisoners are neglected.
It is very evident from the facts which have already come to light that many of our prisons need reforming.

THE MAINE TROUBLE.

Things are war-like in Maine. The Republicans do not propose to be sold if there is power enough in law and equity to prevent it. They are discussing the question in public meetings and are determined to fight for their rights. The course marked out, according to a dispatch from Washington, is, (1) to exhaust every possible legal means by appeals to the Court for injunction to prevent the Fusionists of the Legislature who have been counted in by fraud, from taking their seats; (2) failing in this, the Republican members who were actually elected—a majority of both houses —shall meet at the Capitol with sufficient force to enter the two Chambers, take their seats, keep them, and organize the Legislature which the people elected.

This plan, after serious consultation, has been suggested, and Senator Hamlin thinks it will be carried out. He recommends it, and likewise does Senator Blaine, and all the prominent Republicans in the State.
There are many Democrats in Maine who believe as the Republicans do, and who publicly express their opinion that the party would be justified in taking that course. It is said that if the Fusionists meet elsewhere and organize, "the claims of the old government" could be sent to Washington and the Administration could decide between them as it has heretofore done in similar cases in the Southern States." It is claimed that if the Republicans should meet in the manner suggested, popular feeling would be so strongly in favor of the Legislature elected by the Republicans by such a large majority, that the Fusion government would not last a single week.

There can be but one course for the Maine Republicans to take and that is to defend their rights and under no circumstances to submit to such an outrage. The usurpers can not maintain themselves.
Their crime is too black to be even upheld by the masses of the Democratic party in Maine. Their game is too revolutionary, and their purposes too damming, to ever succeed in an intelligent State. The steel is soaked, barbed, and impudent, so low-lived in character, and so aggravating a crime against self government, that the sensible Democrats themselves blush at the deed. In the face of these facts, the Republicans are determined to meet the issue let it cost what it will. This is the only thing to do. The time has not come yet in this country when such a high-handed and revolutionary scheme can be successfully carried out. The fraud must be crushed, and the earnest men of all parties should see that it is done. We want no Mexicanization of our form of Government, and we do not want to have it written in this country that such appalling political crimes as Tillen's attempt to steal the Presidency in 1876, and Garcelon's attempt to steal Maine, ever succeeded.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, MONDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1879.

NUMBER 245

THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF CHARITIES.

The State Board of Charities and Reform has made a report concerning the Milwaukee House of Correction. It was delivered to the Governor on Saturday afternoon and on that day appeared in full in the State Journal. After giving a brief history of the prison, the Board mildly apologizes for having in previous reports stated that the prison was in good condition and was well managed. It appears that these conclusions were reached without a thorough examination, the members of the Board relying upon the statements of managers of the prison. The Board then says that there were but three ways by which it could gain any knowledge of the cruelties in the prison: (1) By witnessing them in its visits to the institution; (2) by learning of them through the convicts or officers in their visit to the prison; or (3) by ex-convicts telling of their barbarities outside. The members confess that they never saw anything in their visits to even excite suspicion. No convict or officer ever told them of the cruelties, though frequent opportunities were given them to talk of the matter. No complaints were ever made, and they never heard of the black-hole, the gas, the barbarities, the kicks and cuffs, profanity and clubs, bad meat and wretched floor, until they saw the charges made in the Milwaukee Sentinel. This is the best excuse the Board could make, and probably under the circumstances, it is sufficient.

According to the testimony obtained by the Board of Charities, the following points have been proved:

1. That the gag which was used in such an inhuman manner was unknown to the law, and in using it the managers knew they were violating the law.
2. That the black-hole was unfit for any convict to live in; that it was small, cold, dark, damp, filthy, and not ventilated; that the poisonous air, sickening odors, which constantly filled the cell, permanently impaired the health of all who were incarcerated therein any length of time.
3. That if there was one thing more than another that stigmatized the general management of the prison, it was the contract made by the County Board of Supervisors for the "meat" to be furnished the prisoners, and which bore the stamp "prisoners' meat," that the meat for the officers cost seven cents a pound, while the meat for the prisoners cost only 4 1/2¢ and was dear at that; that the contract provided there should be good meat sent to the House of Correction, while the foulest meat in the market was provided for the prisoners; or in the language of the Board, "we find abundant proof of the dirty and vile character of much of the meat furnished." 4. That under Kennedy's Inspectorship there was less fraud in the meat contracts than under Hase.
5. That the prisoners were generally dirty, seldom bathed, were little cared for in this respect, and in case of sickness had insufficient medical treatment.
6. That one of the worst features of the management was that all prisoners were treated alike, no proper discrimination being used. The person being sent there in default of the payment of a fine, or for violation of a city ordinance, had his head shaved, was clothed in prison garb, and was put to work beside a villain who had committed some diabolical crime.
7. That the House of Correction was not reformatory in its character, that it rather hardened men and boys than reformed them.
8. That the responsibility of these great outrages and sickening barbarities must rest upon the city and county of Milwaukee, and the Board of Supervisors of the county.

The State Board of Charities recommends that the character of the House of Correction be radically changed; that the law should be amended so as to prevent the confinement therein of any pauper, or any criminal who would otherwise be sent to hard labor in the State Prison; that the young should be taught the rudimentary branches of education.

The report is well written in many respects, and in no case does it attempt to whitewash anything, or to treat the grave subject in a manner which ill-comports with its importance. There is every indication that the State Board of Charities has done its duty, so far as the House of Correction is concerned.

The Gentle Sex of Canada.

A country couple came into Ottawa, Ont., the other day to get married. They walked so fast that the looters thought it was a go-as-you-please match, and began to bet. At last they reached the church, but the groom began to repent and wanted to back out. He tried all sorts of gentle arguments and read him a lecture on the advantages of the happy state; but he wouldn't be induced. "Darn it, then," said the irrepressible woman, "if that's what you're skinned of, I'll keep the family myself." But still he hesitated, and the bride got mad, and took her bonnet and shawl off, and carefully laid them on the sidewalk. This done, she eyed him with the ferocity of a Bengal tiger, and said:
"Look here, Jack Sprague, are we to be squealed, or are we not?" The answer came in the negative, and then she said:
"You must be licked, Jake." Then she pitched in and gave Jake a real old fashioned licking. He didn't resist, and there's no knowing what might have been the result if a policeman hadn't interfered.

The attention of pupils is called to the Friday night class held in Elouation, at Mrs. Noon's rooms. Five cents admission to these classes will be charged, and no spectators allowed.

EDISON'S TRIUMPH.

The Electric Light Completed and to Be Exhibited New Year's Eve.

New York, Dec. 21.—The Herald devoted a page to Edison's "Triumph in Electric Illumination," giving a full and accurate account of his work from its inception to its completion, with illustrative diagrams. The Herald says: "The first public exhibition of Edison's long looked for electric light takes place New Year's Eve, at Menlo Park, on which occasion that place will be illuminated with the new light. The new light, incredible as it may appear, is produced from a little piece of paper—a strip of paper that a breath would blow away. Through this little strip of paper is passed an electric current, and the result is a bright, beautiful, mellow light.
But the paper instantly burns, even under the trifling heat of a tallow candle," ex-claims the skeptic, "and how, then, can it withstand the fierce heat of an electric current?" Very true; but Edison makes the little piece of paper more infusible than platinum—more durable than granite, and this involves no complicated process.
The paper is merely baked in an oven until all its elements have passed away except its carbon framework. The latter is then placed in a glass globe connected with wires leading to the electricity-producing machine, and the air exhausted from the globe. Then the apparatus is ready to give a light that produces no deleterious gases, no smoke, no offensive odors—a light that burns without consuming, requiring no matches to ignite, giving out but little heat, vitiatizing no air, and free from all flickering—a light that is a little globe of sunshine. And this light, the inventor claims, can be produced cheaper than that from the cheapest oil. The inventor finds that electricity can be regulated with entire reliability at the central station, just as the pressure of gas is low regulated. The entire cost of constructing the lamp is not more than 25 cents."

THE MAINE FRAUD.

The Excitement Caused by the Thieving Democracy in Maine.

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 21.—It is ascertained that the Republicans elected to the Legislature from Lisbon and Webster in Androscoggin county, were counted out on the alleged ground that the returns of the election were signed by one Selectman voting for the three required by law. The Selectmen have now made affidavit that each separately subscribed his name to the Legislative returns, and one of the Selectmen is a well known Democrat.

Boston, Dec. 21.—Dispatches from Maine report indignation meetings held at various places last night to protest against the recent action of the Government and Council. There were large and animated displays at Skowhegan and Hallowell.
At the latter place a resolution was adopted at last called the parties who were rejected at the polls, but counted in by the Governor, to refuse to occupy seats in the Legislature, and concludes: "There must be no submission for one hour or one instant to the infamous count of the Governor and Council."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—A leading Democrat here has received a telegram from Maine stating that Governor Garcelon will not recede from the position which he has taken, and that he has made arrangements to order out the State militia to sustain him in organizing the Legislature as he has reconstituted it. Should the Governor deem the State militia unable to sustain him, he will then call upon the President for United States troops. Governor Garcelon should bear in mind, as he is calling the bayonet to set aside the ballot, that the United States Government, while under obligation to "guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican form of government" is only bound to protect them against domestic violence. On application of the Legislature, or of the Executive when the Legislature cannot be convened, "The President would undoubtedly respond "on application of the Legislature," and would turn a deaf ear to Governor Garcelon if the Legislature could be convened when his call was made. It will be a curious commentary upon the Democratic argument in Congress during the past twelve years should Governor Garcelon feel compelled to sustain himself by the bayonet and to seek the intervention of the National Government in State affairs.

LAMP EXPLOSION.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 21.—Shortly before 10 o'clock to-night while Prof. Peckham was engaged at the High School building in the First ward preparing for a lesson in biology, to be illustrated on the morrow, a kerogene lamp, which he had momentarily left

THE ATLANTIC.

The Atlantic Monthly begins the New Year enlarged and in a dress of new and larger type, and with some minor changes in style and make-up. It contains the first two chapters of a serial story by W. D. Howells, entitled "The Undiscovered Country," which will prove an attractive feature to many admirers of that charming author. There are poems by W. W.
Story, John G. Whittier and Oliver Wendell Holmes, that of the latter showing the author's peculiar power of blending humor, sarcasm and sentiment. The solid articles of the number are the Bonanza Farms of the West, Reminiscences of Washington, Habits of English Life, Webster's Speeches, and The Hunt Memorial Exhibition. There are articles on recent novels, The New Edition of Chaucer, and Notes on Holiday Books. The second part of the story of Thirty-Seven Hundred and Fifty-Eight, which, by the way, is hardly worthy of the prominence given it, is a short story—Electroengineering of Big Injun Mountain, and the Contributor's Club complete the number. Some interesting features are promised for the coming year, such as serials by Henry James, Jr., and T. B. Aldrich, articles on industrial topics, political and social life in Washington, politics, education and religion, and poems from Longfellow, Holmes, Whittier, &c.

KEYES ON BLAINE.

Hon. E. W. Keyes. Thinks the Man From Maine will Win the Race—
He has no Idea that John Sherman Will Even Save His Distance.

Chicago Times.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—The Hon. E. W.
Keyes, of Madison, Wisconsin, who, as his friends say, has ninety-nine chances out of a hundred of representing his State in the national senate some day, is taking solid comfort at the Grand Pacific. Mr.
Keyes left Washington on Friday night.
The interview turned on the relative candidacy of Grant, Blaine and Sherman.

Mr. Keyes said that he had found that there are a great many Blaine men who feel that in a certain emergency they may be compelled to take up Grant as president.
Whether such an emergency will arise or not will depend upon the course taken by the national Democracy. A widespread apprehension exists, he said, that the Democrats mean to accomplish their political ends in future by such outrages as the one just perpetrated in Maine, where the disfranchisement of a portion of the people has been attempted.
If that is to be the game, the Republican party will be forced to bring Grant to the front. His name will be a tower of strength in the contest, and it fairly and honestly elected he will know it, and knowing it will not permit himself to be cheated out of the office in election counts. The recent outrage in Maine, Mr. Keyes thinks, has helped Grant's chances for the nomination.
Should the Democrats, however, behave themselves fairly well, the statesman of Maine, Mr. Keyes thinks will be the first choice of the Republican party. He doesn't believe that Sherman who he says, is "on the candidacy bigger than a woodchuck," will ever get the nomination, not even after Grant and Blaine are out of the way. The successful candidate must come into the convention with more of a backing than the "solid South" and one of two Northern states. Mr. Keyes believes that the South will not cut much of a figure in the nomination, and he is confident that two or three Southern States will return Republican electors.

Mr. Keyes said further, in answering a question put by his interviewer, that the contest for the nomination will be practically decided before the convention opening. The struggle will not be carried into the convention. It is Grant to be the nominee, it will be known beforehand; if Blaine is to be the candidate, the fact will be unalterably settled long before his formal nomination; or, if both are to be rejected, the "dark horse" will make his appearance, not in the convention, but before the delegates come together.

JANUARY LITERATURE.

The North American Review—What It Says on Current Topics—The January Atlantic—An Excellent Bill of Fare.

In the North American Review for January, M. Ferdinand de Lesseps examines the different schemes that have been proposed for the construction of a ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. He pronounces the Nicaragua Canal project to be inadequate, and insists upon the necessity of a canal having one level of water from ocean to ocean. The Nicaragua route is in the first place too long, being two hundred and ninety-five kilometers; then, its twenty-one locks would make navigation so slow that there would be practically no saving of time, and great steamships could more profitably go around Cape Horn.
Even were the Nicaragua Canal to be constructed, M. de Lesseps holds that it could never be anything else than a channel for inferior navigation; it could never accommodate the large vessels which now carry the world's commerce. The second article is by Francis Parkman, who reviews the arguments adduced in favor of woman suffrage by five advocates of that measure in the November number of the Review. When the great mass of womanhood demands the right of suffrage, it will be accorded says Mr. Parkman; but with all the agitation of this question during several decades, the female sex is still content to be represented in political affairs by their male relatives. Mr. Parkman in the latter half of his article "Romanism and the Irish Race in the United States," recounts the history of English rule in Ireland. That history is, according to him, a succession of blunders on the part of the successive English governments.
The one English ruler whose policy might have resulted in good, both to England and Ireland was Oliver Cromwell. Henry James, Jr., contributes an article on the littered letters of the eminent critic, Sainte-Beuve, one of the most interesting figures in the annals of literature. The author analyzes with rare skill the mental constitution of Sainte-Beuve, exhibiting remarkable combinations of qualities possessed by him, namely, a passion for scholarship and an intense sympathy with human life. An article by Prof. Alexander Winchell on "The Metaphysics of Science" goes to demonstrate the existence of a realm of thought deeper than the data of physical science, and on which the principles of science are dependent for all their validity. Mr. Outberr Mills, in his essay on "The Permanence of Political Forces," considers the question of the currency. His conclusions are: first, that so long as financial questions are an issue in national politics, no resting place will be found till it is finally determined whether coin or an inconvertible paper currency is to be the money of the country; second, that the Greenback organization will never be anything but a third party, and as such will go to pieces; third, that the result of the agitation will be a decision, either by constitutional amendment or otherwise, that the national government shall not under any circumstances issue an inconvertible legal tender paper money. The literary notices are by Richard Henry Stoddard, who reviews three volumes, viz: Arnold's "Light of Asia," Dr. Joyce's

"Blind," and Bayard Taylor's "Poetical Works."

The Review is for sale by all booksellers and newsdealers.

Bachelors and Boys.

From the New York Times.

Imagine a bachelor on principle, of middle age, and a small boy of 5 or 6 or 8 of the regular American pattern, in the same room, and obliged to remain together for an hour. What delightful companions they would prove! A cat and dog, a drunken Comanche and an exhorting elder, or a fish and dry land would be as harmonious as they. The bachelor would wish to be let alone severely, and would be astonished of quiet. The boy would be anxious to search the man's pockets, to use his watch as a hammer to crack refractory nuts, and probe his eye with a relentless finger. He would be desirous, too, to knock all the pieces of furniture violently together, and to assist the man with a variety of roars and yells, such as a healthful, ill-reared native urchin alone can originate.
It is not unlikely that the bachelor would not enjoy the winning pranks of the merry child; he might fail to appreciate those earnest efforts to break the drum of his ear.

Bob's Lament.

Bob Burdette was left in a dull Pennsylvania town on a damp, disagreeable, drizzly day, and works off his ill-humor in this way: "I have a cold in my head. I don't feel very cheerful. It is too dark and too damp and too cold to be funny. I will stop writing and smoke a cube for a change. I am cross and come sick. I wish I knew where there was some man in this town small enough for me to quarrel with.
I wish I was in Sagetown. How quickly I would get me into Burlington. I wish I was as sick as I am good, so that I wouldn't have to go wandering over the country as I am beautiful, so people would love me.

I wish I was just seven years old, and Christmas lasted three months, and I had stockings as long as a telegraph pole.

He is better fitted for a judge than for a politician. In the War Department he is little more than a clerk, but in the Cabinet, whenever a big question comes up, I would rather have his opinion than all the rest put together. He is old common sense. But he is not Secretary of War. General Sherman runs the War Department, and in this respect the military power is above the civil. Benkeap is the only man who ever brought Sherman to terms. Benkeap made Sherman subordinate and drove him to St. Louis.

"Well, how does Evans spend his evenings?"

"He rarely here. That I can hardly tell. You had better ask some New York clerk of his. Evans, however, is fond of company, and is the best story teller in the Cabinet. He is also a big eater, although he is one of the thinnest men I ever saw. I really don't know how he passed his evenings. The chances are that if he has company he will talk to them as long as they will stay. He gives no dinner parties, and has the best house for entertaining in Washington. He does not by any means disgrace the standard established by Fish in this respect."

"How does the President pass his evenings?"

"Now, look here," said my friend; "you are going to fast and are, I am sure, I am sure I was not. 'You must know then said he that the President is the jolliest man in the world in his home circle. He is in the private rooms of the White House every evening where Mrs. Hayes receives all who call. He says pleasant things to everybody, and makes himself very agreeable. When it rains, or from other causes nobody calls in the evening, he plays 'pussy' with a corner' with the young ladies, for there are always young ladies visiting at the White House."

"Now, honestly does the President play 'pussy' with a corner?"

"Upon my word he does, for I have seen him do it, and he seemed to enjoy it."

"Well, it is human nature to unbend. Small men are careful not to let the world see them. It is only the great men who can afford to play 'pussy' with a corner at the White House."

A True Romance.

From the Pittsburgh Chronicle.

Some fifteen years ago Olga Eskold obtained such fame for her vocal powers that an enthusiastic patron removed her from the Swedish village in which she had always lived to give her training in the Royal Conservatory of Music at Stockholm. In budding good bye to her old home, Olga told her village lover, Gustav Selhorn, that he had better think no more about her, as they would soon be very wide apart. Young Selhorn grew desperate and that night left for America without a word. He settled in Buffalo and worked for over fifteen years as a ship carpenter. Nearly two years ago he made up his mind to go back to Sweden and find out what had become of Olga. At New York he was robbed of almost all his earnings and remained in Bellevue Hospital, ill with brain fever, for several months. Upon reaching Stockholm he learned that Olga's voice had broken down, that she had married long ago and had also gone to America. Selhorn's old love still burned and he came back to this country. After a long search he found that Olga had been living in Buffalo, his own city, for several years. She was a widow and had a family of eight children. Last week Olga and Gustav were married and started overland to Kansas.

RELAXATION OF OUR STATUTES.

How the President and Members of the Cabinet Pass Their Leisure Time.

"H. J. R., the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, writes: 'I believe the members of the Cabinet are all in town. I called on Postmaster General Key the other evening, and found him engaged in a hot game of cards with himself. He is probably one of the most inveterate solitaire players in the country. Well, didn't Napoleon play solitaire? Key says he likes the game, first, because he likes to play with a sensible man; second, because he likes a skillful man for an opponent. After leaving the Judge I met in the Elliott house rounds a Cabinet sharp (that is, one who knows all about Cabinet officers), and I asked how the several gentlemen pass their evenings. 'Well,' said he, 'you have already seen how Key passes a weary hour. You will find him that way every evening, unless he is out spending the evening. He never misses an invitation to dinner, and he is very sociable. He has the fewest side of any man in the Cabinet. He will go and play every evening with anybody who is respectable, and will drink his share of the whisky and smoke his share of the cigars. A very good old fellow is Key.'"

"How do the other Cabinet members pass their time?"

"Oh, well, Schurz generally reads, and when his eyes are tired, he goes to the piano, and plays some of the old pieces. He is the only man in the Cabinet who knows anything of music. His style is somewhat wild and mournful, and sometimes it is the gayest. He and Henry Waterson will sit together and sing and play a whole evening. The piano is Schurz's diversion, as horses are Grant's."

"How about Sherman? How does he spend his evenings?"

"Well, Sherman is a great newspaper reader, and just now he is making himself amiable with Southern politicians. He frequently has them at his house in the evening. Sherman is the only man in the Cabinet who is full of anecdote, and his reminiscences are very entertaining. He is cold only in official life. At home he is really pleasant. He is also fond of a good dinner and a glass of wine. The Shermans all are. The Secretary very often gets his short, fat, round, red face, and spends the whole evening writing letters. His correspondence is very large."

"How about Uncle Dick Thompson? Does he work evenings?"

"No. He is very domestic and passionately fond of young people, and he has always a troop of children about him. Besides, the Secretary of the Navy has reached that age when he likes to go to bed early. He is an official worker. There is not a man in the Cabinet who devotes more hours to his office than he. He doesn't stay evening to his study, and you will never find his table piled a foot thick with papers of an important character, as Robeson's used to be."

"How about Attorney General Devens?"

"Well, he is another hard worker. He studies a good deal at night. He is not particular as to his bed, but at 11 or 12 o'clock at night he is a jollier fellow than he generally gets credit for. He likes whisky and Boston, and he is fond of the theatre. He also likes pleasant fellows about him, and he can tell a good story. He likes whisky, the study of literature, and in this regard a man of fine tastes. He is not a man of strong character, for like many Boston men, he cares too much for appearances. But he is honest and is a conscientious officer."

"Is Secretary McCarty a great student?"

"I am afraid McCarty is a little fast and lazy. He is a great lover of the law, and likes to read cases. He is a slow, heavy

THE SUN for 1880.
The Sun will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own way, and will not attempt to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contests of the Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the twenty-fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November, the will of the nation, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which are still looking at the minor affairs of life, and in the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggression. The Sun is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of the year 1880. Our rates of subscription remain unchanged. For the Daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, for one month, is $2.50; for three months, $7.50; for six months, $12.50; for one year, $25.00. The price of the WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1.00 a year, post paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address: I. W. Several of the Milton Cornet Band are in the city, this afternoon, and will visit the Bower City Band rooms this evening.
To-morrow afternoon the Clinton adultery case is to come up before Justice Brooks, Ira Henry being the name of the accused.
The literary club at Monroe must be thriving. All the members who can, carry their own camp chairs so as to be sure to have a seat.
Justice wears a bandage in the Police Court to-day. Trying to chop wood where there was a clothes line was the cause of the wound.
Mr. J. W. Bates is quite ill, and threatened with a run of fever. His sister, Miss Ina Bates, is quite sick also, being troubled with erysipelas.
Marshall Russell started this morning for Chicago to get William Lepper, who is wanted here for the attempted burglary of Hatherall's store.
An exchange wastes half a column in trying to solve the question as to where trousers were first worn. That's easy—on the legs of course.
District Attorney Sale was able to put in an appearance at his office to-day, and thinks that now his health is so far recovered that he can stay there.
To-day was one of the liveliest days of the season. The streets were thronged with teams, and the stores filled with those hunting for Christmas presents.

The case of Fred Holden was called up before Justice Walsh, in Chicago last Saturday, and he was remanded until the 24th, at which time the case of the Haberkorn will also be taken up.
It's a big temptation to trot across the bridges when the mercury gets snug to the bulb, and a Manitoba wave strikes one in the ear, but don't you do it, unless you want to pay a fine. One complaint has already been entered.
Just received at Carpenter & Gowdy's, a full line of choice holiday goods, comprising the newest and most popular patterns of dry maple, body oak, second growth, hard and soft coal, charcoal, etc. Come early, and avoid the crowd.
An interesting replevin suit is on the tapis. A woman seeks to replevin a bird cage. By the time she pays the lawyer's fees and other incidental expenses, that cage will be a dear one, but that's nothing when the principle of a thing is at stake.
Even the postoffice is catching a share of the holiday trade, and to-day business was so lively there that diners had to be sent in to sustain the strength of the wearied clerks, and the vault was turned into a restaurant, where a clerk could hide from sight long enough to fill up.
The case of Hoffmeister vs. Vaughn reached a decision this morning. This case grew out of a desire on the plaintiff's part to get Vaughn out of a barn which he had let him occupy, but which he now wants himself. Justice Prichard decided that Vaughn was the winner.

Talk about brush and comb cases! A. J. Roberts has just received some which are dazzers, they being in gold and silver, as well as some in celluloid. Nothing of the kind was ever seen before, and they are elegant indeed. He also has a large assortment of other goods, toilet sets, cut glass bottles, dressing cases, etc.
W. T. Oakley has been found guilty of larceny, and Justice Wickham fined him $5 and costs, and failing to pay this he was sentenced to jail for ten days. Oakley was from one of the best families in New York State, and in earlier days was one of three to whom was left an estate of $30,000, but his third has gone long ago, and now he stands convicted of stealing a part of a harness, amounting to only a few dollars.

Vankirk; Corresponding Secretary Stanley B. Smith; Recording Secretary, S. H. Hudson; Treasurer, George O. Sutherland; Librarian, George Ripley. The ballote will be cast next Saturday evening.
There can't be many "rainy days" or rian church. It had been announced that last evening a collection would be taken up for the Sunday school, to pay Christmas expenses, but when the storm broke yesterday the preacher made up his mind that the collection and perhaps the meeting would have to be postponed. To his surprise the pews filled, and when the plates were sent out they came back, and $13 with them.

CHEERFUL "COFFEE."
Mrs. E. D. Tallman Happily Entertains a Large Number of Her Lady Friends.
A delightful "coffee" was given, Saturday evening, by Mrs. E. D. Tallman, at her large and elegant home on Jackson street. Strange as it may seem, these gatherings have been unknown heretofore in the social history of this city, although they have been very frequent and very popular in other cities. The enjoyment and success which attended this, will doubtless cause others now to follow. A large proportion of the ladies who were invited, responded in person, and with commendable regard for the hour set in the invitation, 5 o'clock. Most of the guests came in carriages, and the scene without was one of animation, but much more so within where the assembled ladies chatted in groups in the parlors, and promenade the spacious hall, presenting a scene of enjoyable gaiety. There was an elegant and varied display of dress and in this respect varied with any social gathering ever held in this city.
At 6 o'clock the refreshments were served most temptingly and with a bountiful hand, and after they had been partaken, further time was given for pleasant social chatting, until 8 o'clock, the hour when the guests took their departure. One of the pleasant features of the "Coffee" was the music, which was given by Anderson's orchestra, who were stationed on the second floor, near an elliptical opening, through which the sweet harmonies found their way to every part of the rooms below, and gave a happy background of melody to the scene of gaiety there presented.
Mrs. H. T. Ewer, of Milwaukee, sister of Mrs. Tallman, was present, and with her received the guests in a happy manner, and cared for them most hospitably. All who participated were not only charmed with the novelty of the gathering, but with the good cheer with which it reached a happy success. It was most thoroughly enjoyable in all its details, and merits a place among the notable social events of the season.
The following were among the ladies present:
Mrs. C. E. Moseley, Mrs. D. D. Wilson and daughter, Mrs. Frank Cook, Mrs. Anson Rogers, Mrs. Cyrus Miner, Mrs. R. M. Bostwick, Mrs. Dr. Whiting and daughter, Mrs. Thomas Lappin and daughter; Mrs. H. Saved from the Poorhouse.
For years David Allingsworth suffered with rheumatism, and notwithstanding the best medical attendance, could not find relief. He came to the Seletia County Poorhouse, and had to be carried into and out of bed, on account of his helplessness. After the failure of all the remedies which had been applied, the Directors of the Poorhouse resolved to use the celebrated German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, and this was a fortunate resolution; for, with the trial of one bottle, the patient was already much better, and when four bottles had been used upon him he could again walk about without the use of a cane.
The facts, as above stated, will be verified by the Editor of the Portsmouth, Ohio, Correspondent.
CHRISTMAS AT ALL SOULS.
The arrangements have been made for a full day of Christmas festivities at All Souls, on Friday, the 26th. W. M. R. French, Secretary of the Chicago Academy of Design, and one of the best crayon artists in the country, will give a matinee to the children at 2:30 p. m., illustrating the Pied Piper of Hamelin, by Robert Browning, and other juvenile poems, after

YOU CAN FIND IT AT MOSELEY'S.
There is no use in hunting about town any longer, and tiring yourself all out trying to find "just the thing," you want to give—You can find it at Moseley's, and we're willing to bet a railroad or a Boston cracker, or some such thing on it. It's there sure, for Moseley has managed to get hold of almost everything there is to be had in his line. There's a pleasing variety and a dazzling show. The only trouble there are so many things, each of which seems the best, that one gets a little dazed, but then you can't get out of the way much, no matter what you select out of that stock. Moseley has surely done himself proud this season, and has as fine a display of holiday goods as any one need ask for. There are no fancy prices to make a customer feel poor, and there is a willingness to show goods and answer questions, which in these times of general hurry, is very refreshing. to use SOZODONT than any other beautifier. A few drops only are needed, and when regularly applied to the teeth it is not only beautifying, but healthful. Much other adorning is dangerous, but this never. In the sick room or on the toilet, it is equally welcome.
By using SPALDING'S GLUE on the first appearance of a defect in the furniture, it will prove itself to be the most economical thing about the house.
Wonderful!
The need of healthful blood becomes apparent by cold extremities; by frequent flashes of heat; by aches and eruptions; by general lassitude and a revolution from former pleasures. Scenes which once were bright grow tame and insipid, because the life current is slow, sluggish, and unhealthy. Why? The vitreous powers have been overtaxed and refused to work properly. In all such cases, the PERUVIAN SYRUP, which has become such a favorite, should be used. It inspires hope and health; restores the vital blood to its original vigor and removes the resulting evil effects. It infuses heat and warmth to the system, and never fails to do what it promises. Like the galvanic current, which permeates every fibre of the body, it reaches every part of the system; but unlike that current, its virtues remain to cheer and strengthen. All dyspeptic hypochondriacs and invalids generally are recommended to try this Syrup, which can be had of any druggist. Sold in Janesville by Prentice & Evenson.

Messrs. MORGAN & ALLEN, 39 John Street, New York City:
Dear Sirs:—I am pleased to inform you that father is almost as well as he ever was. His appetite is improving daily; he does not have to get up during the night, whereas he used to get up every half hour. He remarked at the supper table this evening that he felt so well—better than he had for several years. The quantity of urine now passed in the twenty-four hours does not exceed one quart—the proper quantity—quite a drop from 3½ gallons. Will you as you say, let him eat anything, and if any return of the disease you will hear from me.
Yours very truly,
JNO. L. SMITH.

Messrs. MORGAN & ALLEN, 39 John Street, New York City:
Dear Sirs:—It has been some time since I wrote you in regard to how father was getting along. So I thought I would write you to-day. I am happy to say that he is entirely well, has been cured with less than three bottles of Constitution Water. Since he has been taking the Constitution Water, we have heard of a good many cases of diabetes in this city. One lady especially has it very bad. When we first heard of her she was in bed with it. She bought one bottle of Constitution Water, and after taking a few doses, was able to get up. Send me as many circulars as you can for the enclosed stamps. There are a great many persons that want them.
Yours very truly,
